Mini-games – How to play them

This section will guide you through playing the new mini-games for Season 3 of Being a D.I.K. It will not show the solutions to specific mini-games. If you are looking to beat a particular mini-game, read the walkthrough section for that episode.

Drawing mini-game

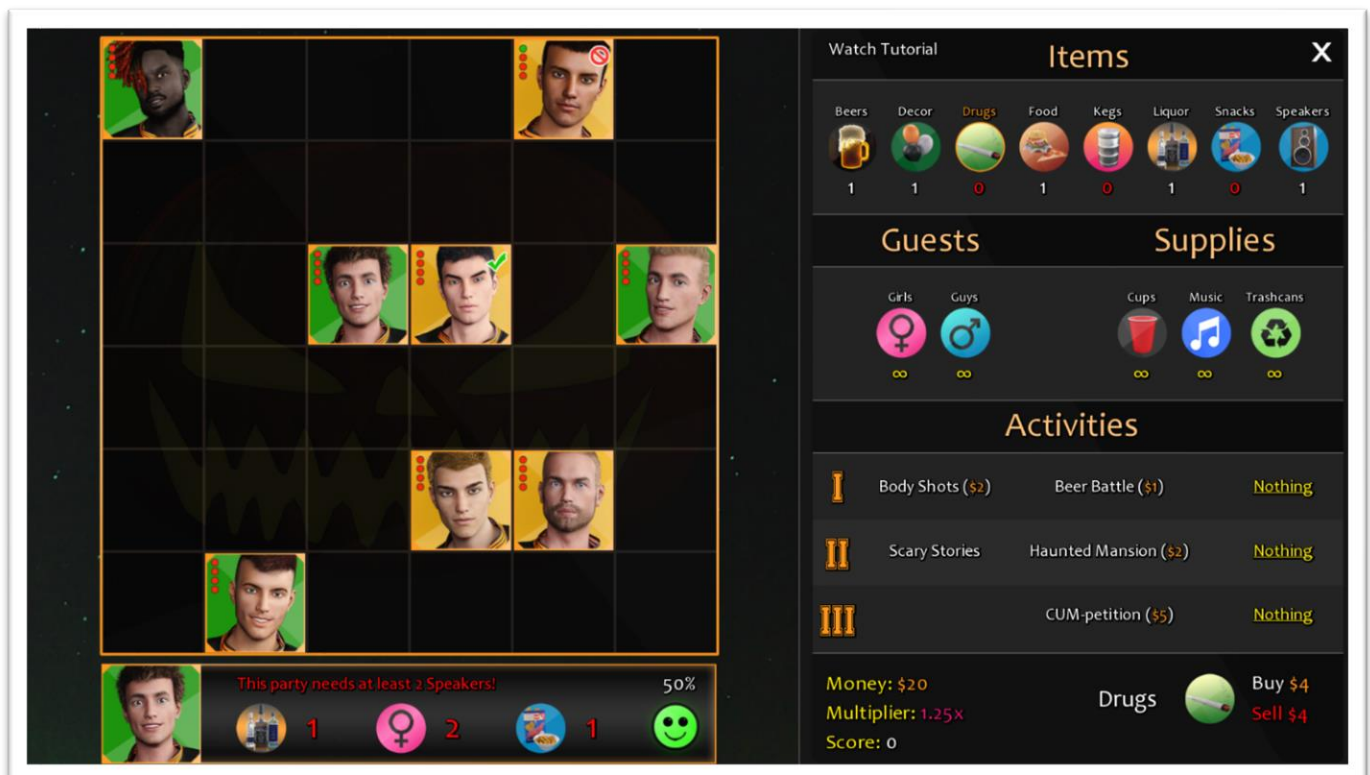

In the drawing mini-game, you need to click the blue dots as fast as possible while avoiding the red dots. Your final rank is based on the time it took for you to complete the mini-game as well as how many red dots you touched. You need to avoid all red dots and finish clicking all blue dots faster than 10 seconds for the best rank, S rank.

Party Planning mini-game

In the party planning mini-game, you plan parties by choosing activities, managing a budget, and buying and placing items. Your goals are to satisfy as many needs as possible for the DIKs and to get a high score and party rank.

Much like the mansion mini-game in Season 2, choices you make affect the story, and your progress is cumulative for future party planning mini-game rounds. Choices you make early on affect how you play the party planning mini-game later.

There are countless of ways you can play and win the mini-game and this section will present the basics of the mini-game. Refer to the episode guide if you want tips on how to achieve the highest rank for each party. Please note, there are random elements to this mini-game, making it impossible to write a guide that is tailored to your particular playthrough. However, by learning general tricks, you will be able to throw amazing parties in no time.

The playing field

DIKs are placed on a grid and the empty boxes surrounding them are used to fulfill their needs. The DIKs have different needs and you need to optimize the use of the empty boxes to fulfill as many of their needs as possible.

Click any DIK to see their needs.

The needs represented by icons show which items and how many of the items they want to be surrounded by. Place items in the adjoining boxes to fulfill those needs. The need at top, represented by text, is a special need that you can fulfill by using the entire grid. For the special need, read the text and place items anywhere on the grid to satisfy it. Sometimes, the special need requires you to avoid placing a certain item on the grid.

You can also see the DIKs' happiness by clicking on them. There are four levels of happiness: Disappointed (<25% happiness), Neutral (<50% happiness), Happy (<75% happiness) and Very Happy ($\geq 75\%$ happiness).

The right part of the interface shows your item inventory, party activities, scores and budget.

The numbers below the items show how many items of that kind you own. If you need more items you have to buy them by selecting the item and clicking the Buy button at the bottom right of the screen. Buying items will deduct money from your budget. You have an endless amount of Guests and Supplies and they don't cost money to use.

Activities
I	Body Shots ($2)	Beer Battle ($1)	Nothing
II	Scary Stories	Haunted Mansion ($2)	Nothing
III		CUM-petition ($5)	Nothing

The activities give special events during the story. Some activities are free, but most cost money. They are all the same when it comes to scores, but they also give minor happiness boosts to some of the DIKs. To maximize the score, you should always choose as many activities as possible. The activities can give you a boost in the final rank too, if you prioritize them.

The party budget starts at $20 for your first party. The party budget will be different depending on the party and excess money isn't saved between parties, unless you have the “Below Budget” perk. Make sure you fully utilize your budget for every party.

The multiplier is used to multiply the score for each party. The higher it is, the higher your score and party rank will be. The multiplier will increase for each need you fulfill.

The score shows your total score for all parties. Each party has an individual score shown after the party has taken place.

Each party will get a party rank, depending on your score for that party. The different ranks, ranging from lowest to highest, are F, E, D, C, B, A and S.

How to play

To play the mini-game, start by selecting the activities you want for your party.

Locking these in early makes sure you don't run out of money for them.

Although it is possible, it is not advised to skip activities for your parties.

After that, click each DIK on the grid and see what their needs are. If you see DIKs who share needs, if possible, plan to put items in boxes that are next to both DIKs at once. That way you will optimize the use of the grid, as free boxes on the grid are valuable and will be an issue you have to plan around. Sharing items also give you an efficiency bonus, increasing your overall score.

When you find a need you want to fulfill, click the corresponding item and place it on the grid. Some items need to be activated by Supplies. Read the information box to the bottom right after selecting an Item, to see if you need to activate the item.

Place the item on the grid, and if you have to activate it, place the correct supply next to that item.

The following dependencies exist:

- Beers, Liquor and Kegs need Cups to activate
- Food and Snacks need Trashcans to activate
- Speakers need Music to activate

When the number of items needed for a DIK is met, his need is fulfilled and a green dot will appear on his avatar. The fulfilled need will be shown in green text. In this example, the need for 1 Liquor has been met, and the Liquor is activated by the Cups supply.

If you wish to remove an item from the grid, hover and click it. Please note that you can undo purchases. For example, if you bought one beer but later find out that you don't need it, you can sell it back and use that money to buy something else. You cannot sell items from your permanent item inventory. The items from your inventory that you can sell are colored green.

When you are satisfied with your item placement, press the X button at the top right to close the mini-game and continue playing.

Item inventory upgrades

Your item inventory shows how many items you will start every party planning round with. At the start of the mini-game, you randomly get three different starting items. Between parties you get to choose two items to upgrade. Upgrading an item increases their free uses by one. A smart strategy is to make sure you have one of each item early on and later focusing on upgrading expensive items or items that you think will be in high demand. There is no way to predict what the next party planning round will bring you in advance, so it's best to have a broad approach and not focus too much on upgrading one item type.

Perks

There are 12 different perks to choose freely from between party planning rounds. You get to select one per round and each offer different advantages and cater to different playstyles.

The top row offers three perks that allow you to place Beer, Food or Liquor without any extra required items for activation. The good thing about these perks is that it will save you boxes on the grid when placing these items. Empty boxes on the grid are valuable and having them makes it easier to fulfill more needs.

The second row offers three perks that reduce the cost of the three most expensive items in the mini-game.

The cost of the items before and after activating their respective perk are:

- Drugs $4 → $1 (With the Connections perk)
- Kegs $5 → $2 (With the Wholesale perk)
- Speakers $3 → $1 (With the Black Friday perk)

The advantage of this is that you will spend less money on these items, allowing you to spend more money on other items and activities. A smart strategy is to get the perk that you aren't planning to upgrade the free item inventory of. For example, if you have 3 free Drugs in your permanent inventory for every party, getting the "Connections" perk won't give you the same benefit as getting another perk, since you likely don't have to buy a lot of Drugs for the party.

The third and fourth rows have perks that affect your score, happiness and budget.

Crowdfunding	DIK Party	Easy to Please
Increase the party budget by $4.	50% extra bonus score from activities.	Receive 20% extra Happiness points for each fulfilled need for every DIK.
Hard to Let Down	Multiplier Madness	Below Budget
Unfulfilled needs lose 20% less Happiness points for every DIK.	DIKs with at least 50% Happiness add an extra 0.1x multiplier .	Save up to $5 for the next party budget. Excess money is lost between parties.

The “Crowdfunding” perk increases your budget for each party by $4. You get the most use for this perk by choosing it early on, as you get $4 extra for every party, regardless of the party budget.

The “Below Budget” perk is a perk better left for later as your leftover money will likely be low during the first parties. As soon as you get money left when planning a party, consider choosing this perk to save that money for the next party. If “Crowdfunding” and “Below Budget” are active and utilized at the same time, they can collectively offer a whopping $9 extra for your party.

The “DIK party” perk increases the bonus score from activities by 50%. Instead of getting 1000 points per activity, you will receive 1500 points. This is a powerful perk as long as you always choose to have the maximum number of allowed activities. It affects your party score and party rank. Consider choosing this perk to maximize your total score and get higher party ranks easier. To demonstrate the power of the perk, consider that you planned a party and got a x7.0 multiplier, without the perk you would get an activity score of 21000 points, but with the perk you would get 31500 points. The “DIK party” perk offers an easy way to significantly boost your score and rank.

The “Easy to Please” and “Hard to Let Down” perks affect the happiness of the DIKs. Happier DIKs give a higher score when fulfilling their needs. If you want the DIKs to gain happiness faster, choose “Easy to Please”. You benefit the most from this perk when fulfilling 3 or 4 of a DIK’s needs. If you feel that your DIKs are losing happiness too fast, you can lower that effect by choosing “Hard to Let Down”. Failing to fulfill more than 2 of a DIK’s needs will cause less damage to their happiness. Both of these perks, in combination, become a powerful way to attain and keep your DIKs at the highest levels of happiness in the mini-game, and thus increasing the score for each party. The drawback is that you have to choose two perks to get the full effect, forfeiting two other perks.

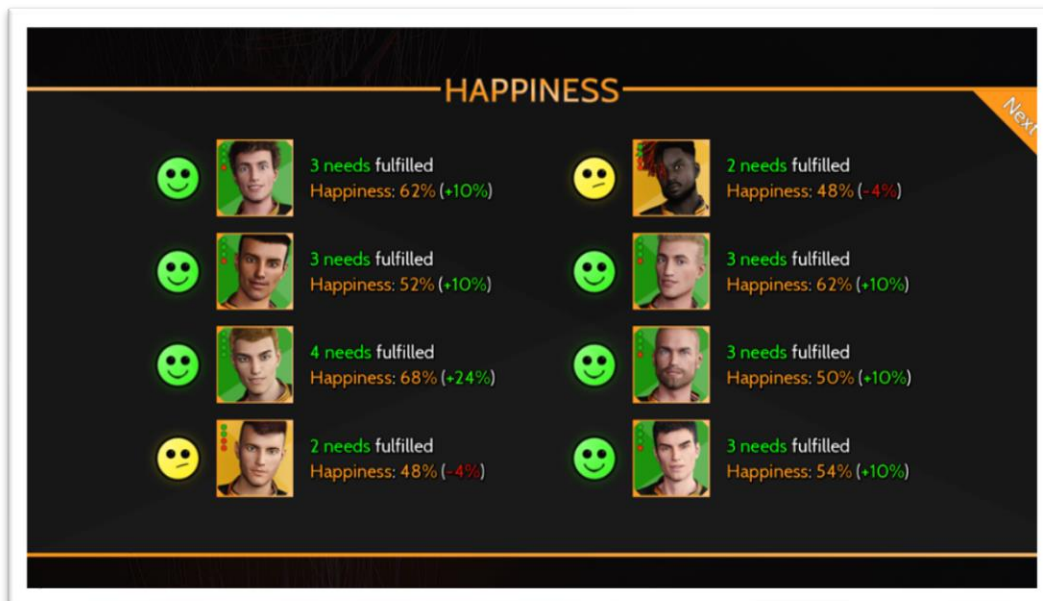

Finally, the “Multiplier Madness” perk will increase the multiplier if you can keep your DIKs happy. If you keep many DIKs above 50% happiness, you will notice a great increase in your score attributed to this perk.

As an example, if all of the DIKs make use of this perk, they will collectively give a 0.8x multiplier increase. For a party with 90 000 points and a 6.75X multiplier, the score would roughly be 100 000 and have a 7.55X multiplier with the Multiplier Madness perk fully utilized.

The difficulty of making use of this perk lies in keeping the DIKs at 50% happiness or above, as anything less makes this perk useless for those with lower happiness. The aforementioned “Easy to Please” and “Hard to Let Down” perks are excellent for keeping the happiness above 50%.

Happiness and Score

After each party you will get a report on how well you did.

Depending on how many needs you fulfilled for the DIKs, their happiness will either increase or decrease. A happier DIK will yield a higher score.

In this example, you can see how Leon scores the highest individual score because he has the highest happiness out of all of the DIKs and all four of his needs were fulfilled, and conversely, how Jacob and Rusty give the lowest scores because of their lower happiness and lack of fulfilled needs.

Keeping DIKs happy will net you a higher score for each party.

The right part shows the score tally. Fulfilled Needs Score is a sum of the DIKs' individual scores. Active items on the grid will increase the Active Items Score. The Efficiency Bonus is based on how well you utilized grid by sharing items among the DIKs. Having one item used by several DIKs at once will increase the Efficiency Bonus. The Activities Score will give you 1000 points per activity, or 1500 points per activity if you have the "DIK Party" perk.

The sum of the scores is multiplied with the multiplier and presented as your Total Party Score. It's added to your Total score, representing your score across all planned parties. And finally, your Party Rank is presented. It is calculated differently for each party.

Episode 9 – Vixens

During the episode, scenes will be shown depending on which branch you are playing. In episode 8 you ended up with one out of five possible branches. The walkthrough refers to the five different branches as:

Isabella's branch

Jill's branch

Josy's & Maya's branch

Sage's branch

Others' branch

Skip reading the sections of the guide that aren't meant for your current branch.

Tommy will ask you questions about the activities for the party. These activities will give you different scenes during episode 9, but they are also part of the party planning mini-game. If you're playing with mini-games disabled, your choices will affect DIKs' happiness with your party more clearly.

Choose which activities you want for your party. Worth knowing is that the "Haunted mansion" activity will unlock a lewd scene if you're playing Sage's branch. And the "CUM-petition" activity will possibly unlock a lewd scene if you're playing Others' branch.

If you're playing with mini-games disabled, the two recommended combinations of choices are:

"Body shots", "Telling scary stories" and "CUM-petition"

and

"Drinking competition", "Haunted mansion" and "CUM-petition"

If you are playing with mini-games, pick whatever you want for now and refer to the guide below for the rest of the mini-game.

Mini-game: Party Planning #1 – Halloween

If it is your first time playing the mini-game, play the tutorial to learn the basics.

There are countless of ways to pass the party planner mini-game. And since there are random elements to the mini-game, it's impossible to give one perfect solution that covers everything. Instead, the guide will offer tips and tricks on how you can play each party. It is recommended to play the game as you want and find your own solution and strategy to the mini-game.

When you start the mini-game, three items will have been selected at random for you. The items that can be useful to upgrade for the Halloween party in general are: 1 Kegs, 1-2 Speakers, 1-2 Food, 1-2 Liquor. For your first item upgrades, choose items with that in mind.

The easiest perk to start with is Pink Weiss, as it removes the requirement to use Cups to activate Beer. But if you're planning long term and welcome a trickier start, "Crowdfunding", "Multiplier Madness", "Easy to Please" or "Hard to Let Down" are great choices as well. All perks are viable, and with the right strategy, you can attain the S rank at the Halloween party using any of them.

Before you start purchasing items, make sure you have selected the activities you want for the party. It is recommended to always select as many activities as possible, as they boost your rank, DIKs' happiness and give extra scenes. One recommendation for the Halloween party is to either choose one of the following combinations:

- Beer Battle, Haunted Mansion and CUM-petition (Total cost: $8)
- Body Shots, Scary Stories and CUM-petition (Total cost: $7)
- Beer Battle, Scary Stories and CUM-petition (Total cost: $6)

All items except Decor and Drugs are worth buying for this round. Decor only fulfills one of Nick's needs, and adding Drugs won't increase your multiplier because Jamie doesn't want Drugs at the party.

A good general strategy is to start by clicking all DIKs and reading their needs. Their positions are randomized, meaning that you'll have to evaluate the best approach every time you play the mini-game. Some needs that are always worth fulfilling to get a high score are Girls, Food, Beers and Trashcans. Consider fulfilling Derek's Speakers need, if you have at least one free Speakers item in your inventory; it is too expensive to fulfill this need if you have to buy two Speakers.

Start fulfilling needs by adding Girls, Beers, Cups (if needed to activate the Beers), Trashcans and Food. If you have a Keg, activate it with a Cups supply, and use that same Cups supply to activate Liquor for either Leon, Derek and/or Rusty. Keep fulfilling the easy and cheap needs and at the end, if you have money left, look into fulfilling the more expensive needs.

Be mindful of how you use the grid, try to share as many items as possible between DIKs. The most valuable slots on the grid are the ones next to several DIKs on the second and fourth rows. Make sure you share the items in those slots. It's recommended to choose 1 Food over 2 Snacks, since the Food item only takes up one slot on the grid.

In this example you can see how to share items during the Halloween party. Use it for inspiration, as you likely won't be able to follow it completely due to the random nature of the mini-game.

Pink Weiss was used in this example, and Beers were prioritized and effectively shared among DIKs. If you choose a perk like Pink Weiss, you should maximize your usage of it or it would be a wasted perk. Always apply that logic to the perks that you choose.

As a final tip for this round, try to keep all DIKs above two fulfilled needs, and favor the DIKs who have easy and shared needs. If you want to achieve the highest score and rank, aim to get a multiplier of at least x6.5.

Click the X button to the top right to end the mini-game.

After finishing planning the party, when Tommy leaves, you can click a magazine on the floor in the background to unlock a special render.

All branches

If you are playing with mini-games enabled, there will be a report for the Halloween party after you've completed it.

You can get the highest rank in different ways. The first way is to get a party score higher than 90000 points, but if you have three activities for your party you only have to score 80000 points to get the S rank. The requirements for the lower ranks aren't listed in this guide.

You get to choose two new items to upgrade. A recommendation is to either keep it balanced for now and choose items that you have none of in your inventory, or to choose expensive items like Drugs, Kegs or Speakers. Food, Decor and Liquor. In general, don't upgrade the cheaper items too much, e.g. Beers and Snacks.

For the next perk, consider choosing "Easy to Please", "Hard to Let Down", "Multiplier Madness" or "Crowdfunding". You may choose different too. Other strategies include choosing all perks from the top row to eliminate the need for activation items and thus getting more space on the grid in the future. You can also start reducing the item cost of expensive items with the second row of perks, and later choosing "Crowdfunding" or "Below Budget", to have plenty of money when planning parties. Maximizing the score of the party planning mini-game will require you to choose the happiness and score related perks: "Easy to Please", "Multiplier Madness", "DIK party" or "Hard to Let Down".

It can be good to be a jack of all trades and choose a broad strategy too. For example, choosing one perk per row and keeping an evenly distributed item inventory is a viable strategy.

During the morning scene, there is a magazine between Chen's (the ghost/ninja) legs. Click it to unlock a special render. Enjoy the ending to episode 9.
