

[Male protagonist, Insect, sharing, ntr]

(Plot)

James is one of the successful owners of an advertising company called xyz limited, he has partnered with his brother-in-law (husband of his sister) and one of the friends of his father.

Everything was alright for few years but until one day due to some charges of corruption and sexual harassment from few models on his brother-in-law, their company lost many contracts and projects due to bad reputation.

Although they won the case and the charges were nullified, they still weren't able to make their comeback.

The biggest reason of this issue was James himself as he never really takes care of the company and usually spend his most of time in traveling across the world as this is his lifetime dream of touring the world.

So, after this issue his brother-in-law suggests that we should hire our own models and do photoshoots that will definitely increase reputation of their company.

James is about to question whether any model will work for them but his brother-in-law interjected between while he purposes an idea of using females of the house as a model.

Even his uncle (friend of his father) supported the idea and little by little women of his house became models for their company.

[it can be multiple choice game]

1- Mc will take interest in business himself while he'll have choice of creating his own harem of women including his wife, daughters, sister, daughter of his uncle and we can add few others.

[here he can even share his women with others and everything is avoidable]

2- Mc will be same as before incident and let his trusted brother-in-law and uncle handle the business. The women of the houses will be shared among these two or even let them do prostitute work in secret. [unavoidable NTR]

3- here Mc will work in his company, in this situation we can third party as they liked their work and wants to work with the models of their company. [here we can add, cheating, molestation, corruption and here ntr is avoidable based on Mc's choice]
